

WOW!

WOMEN OF WONDER

2012 ANNUAL REPORT

Dear Friends,

So many women are told as girls what they can't do and what they can't be. And when they hear that message often enough, they begin to believe it and to stop dreaming of all that they can be.

But God's message is so very different. In promising Sarah a child in her old age, long after it was humanly possible to conceive, the Lord asked, "Is anything too wonderful for the Lord?" (Gen 18:14 KJV). It was God's way of assuring her that absolutely nothing is too hard for God.

I rejoice seeing younger and older women awaken to the truth that God wholeheartedly supports their dreams—dreams God planted in them and calls them to fulfill.

I am grateful for you, because your gifts have allowed our sisters to see and hear God anew. In 2012, you and WOW! together touched lives and helped restore confidence in a wonder working God who continues to speak a life-giving word to women and men everywhere.

Blessings,

Rev. Dr. Grace May
Executive Director of Women of Wonder, Inc.

WOW! Is anything too hard for God?

2012 Ministry Milestones

Discernment Groups:

- Four Discernees completed a Discernment Cycle, involving 5 Discernment Counselors, who gave a total of 102 hours.
- One sister graduated from Columbia's Teacher's College and followed the Lord's calling into educational missions in a slum in New Delhi, India.

A Discernment Coordinator and Assistant Coordinator, who together boast more than forty years of pastoral ministry and counseling experience, head up the Discernment Group ministry.

Discernment group procedures and guidelines for the discernment process and the recruitment of counselors have been established and adopted by the WOW! Board.

Skype videoconferencing has been used in discernment sessions to include people near and far.

Core Course:

- Seventeen sisters completed the WOW! 7-week Core Course.
- A joint worship and teaching workshop in March, hosted by Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, whetted people's appetite for the Core Course.

The Core Course was a learning experience that ministered to the whole person through teaching, worship, fellowship and prayer.

The teaching demonstrated that the whole canon of Scripture, read in context, supports women in leadership.

I really enjoyed that the class highlighted women who operated "outside the box" [even in biblical times].

"My greatest gain in the course is access to Biblical teaching from the woman's perspective. . . it has been a liberating experience to know that male and female were created equal. . . The day Grace taught 1 Corinthians 11. . . I realized that I need to learn the "complete" gospel. God has so much more to offer than we think, [including] a new perspective of looking at women and how important and awesome we really are despite what society tells us."

It warms my heart to know that Jesus values how each . . . woman thinks.

I am so glad that the group is diverse in race and age. We got to share a lot of different perspectives.

Everything was applicable, from the fellowship with sisters in Christ we don't normally fellowship with to different forms of worship to eye opening revelations of "difficult" Scriptures.

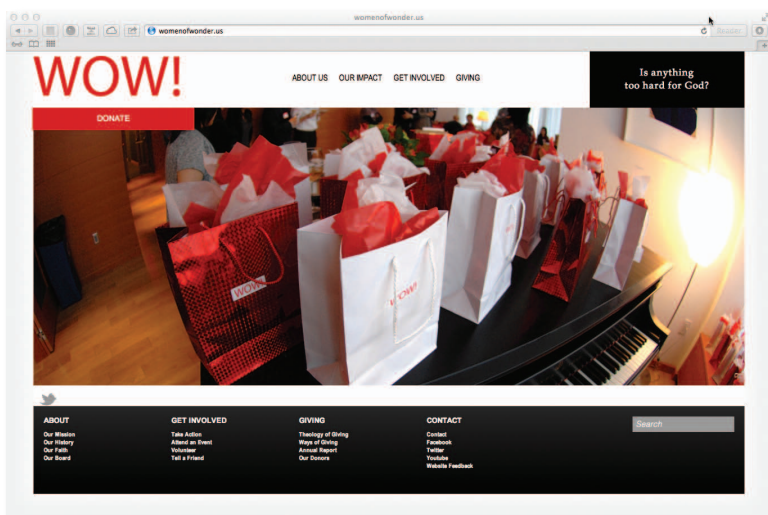

Mentoring and Support Network:

- A Discernment Session was convened for a campus minister with an eye to building a network of support.

Website:

WOW!'s new website continues to be developed even as you read this Annual Report.

Partnership Development:

- WIT (WOW!'s Intercessory Team) consists of twenty-five prayer warriors led by WOW!'s Chaplain May Lee.
- Donations increased 200% from 2011 to 2012. Fifty people and two churches are giving generously and sacrificially to the ministry of WOW!.
- WOW! expanded her network on the West Coast by participating in the APIWLC (co-sponsored by CRU, InterVarsity, Navigators and Asian American Leadership Conference) in Los Angeles in April 2012. Grace also preached on the last day of the conference.
- Over 600 people receive WOW!'s e-newsletter regularly.

Organizational Structure:

Incorporation and tax-exempt status granted by Federal and State Tax Authorities.

WOW!'s Board expanded by adding two stellar leaders for a total of six with a WOW! Board Retreat in May 2012.

We have a new Executive Director and an Operations Director.

Thank you Friends and Supporters for helping WOW! to soar!
